ELI PERKINS ON HACKMEN.

To the Editor of The Daily Graphic.]

The other day a shrewd young fellow-this same Mr. Burgess, who owns a nice carriage and an eight thousand dollar farm to back it up -thought he'd come in between haying and corn-husking and make a few dollars off of the rich Saratogians. He is a gritty fellow, and is a hard case to manage. It required study and diplomacy. At last it was made up that born fellow, as he rushes up, whip in hand.

haps no more unknown or interesting geograph ical region in America than the different branches of the Snake river and the Madison, ful region. Within a radius of ten miles may be found the sources of three of the largest rivers in America. The general elevation is from seven thousand to eight thousand feet above the sea, while the mountains, whose eternal snows form the sources of these great rivers, rise to a height of teu thousand to twelve thousand feet. Flowing northward are the numerous branches of the Missouri, Yellowstone and

Wind rivers, which all eventually unite in one mighty stream, the Missouri. To the south are the branches of Green river, which, uniting with the Colorado, finally empties into the Gulf of California, while south and west flow the branches of Snake river, which uniting with the the Pacific. The exploration of this remarkable water divide proves that the Madison fork has its source in a small lake not bitherto noted any map, and that the so called Madison lake belongs entirely on the Pacific slope.. This latter lake was found to be about twelve miles long and eight miles wide. From this body of water flows a stream nearly one hundred feet wide, and which, after a distance of about five miles empties into a second lake which is four miles long and one and a-half miles wide. The former of these lakes wes named Shoshone, and to the story of the Two-Oceans rivers and such which four hundred and seventy mountain

This invention should be speedily in general use.
